At €8500 for the hardware and installation, the VirtualDream delivers virtual reality games and an immersive VR experience anywhere. It's faster, smaller, cheaper and the most easy to use VR product on the market.

The VirtualDream is the best VR headset available now! It is extremely easy to use and integrates well with your everyday life. My review unit had little to no recovery time and feels so natural.

I am currently typing this in my virtual office and it is amazing! The responsiveness is beautiful and I just can't believe it! I used to get extremely nauseous with the old headset methods and I hated to play new games for review. I played my first nausea free game on the VD and I have never felt more free! Just one wire! Nothing else! It's just fun! I have never loved a gaming product like this since my old keyboard I reviewed a few years ago.

VirtualDream is the best VR product so far and I would recommend it to anyone who had some money laying around! It is so easy to set up after you get it installed. If you have existing nerve damage, you may have issues with connectivity, but our local Girl Boss Violet Mercado is hard at work making new hardware that helps people with nerve damage be able to play more efficiently!
